

The Animal Health Professions' Register

Privacy Policy

SUMMARY

The Animal Health Professions' Register is committed to protecting your privacy. This policy sets out how we collect, use and store your personal information. This policy applies to our website and to our processing activities in general.

This policy covers our commitment to comply with the EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and other relevant data protection legislation. When we refer to "we", "our" or "us" this means Animal Health Professions' Register.

When we refer to "personal information" within this policy we mean "personal data" as defined under the GDPR. ("Personal data" means any information which relates to a living individual who can be identified either directly or indirectly such as a name, an email address or other personal details).

We collect your personal information to ensure we manage the AHPR effectively. The aim of this policy is to inform you about how we use your personal information and your choices, including how to access and update your personal information.

We may make changes this policy from time to time by updating this page, so encourage you to refer back to this policy. If we make any significant changes we will endeavour to notify you.
